4 What am I still confused about?

5 Based on the above, why was I encouraged to read this?

¹Is it conceptual, theoretical, empirical, or something else?

²If there is a clear 'gap' identified, great, but what other literature(s) mentioned? Meaning, do they lay out or contrast different 'groups' of related articles

³What ideas are going to be tackled?

⁴How do they say they will test and/or make use of these ideas as part of their research?

⁵Where does the data come from, and how well do they explain what it contains? Is it biased or limited in any way?

⁶Just the highlights!
